GOP PLANS DRIVE ON TRUMAN

Czech Catholic Priests Defying Red Government

Resolution Backing Church Leaders Read At Services

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 18.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic priests have defied orders from the Communist government to desert Archbishop Jose Beran and the Vatican in the church-state war.

At morning masses throughout the country yesterday, they read a defiant resolution declaring their continuing loyalty to church authorities and willingness to "bear with them whatever consequences they may face."

Rallying to the support of the embattled hierarchy, the priests accused the government of violating constitutional guarantees of religious freedom, condemned the government-sponsored Catholic Action as schismatic, and asserted that clerical signatures endorsing it had been obtained by fraud.

Priests who read the resolution in Catholic churches said it represented the views of a big majority of the clergy.

They declared they were speaking from their own consciences and "our responsibility before our nation."

"We are certain all conscientious and faithful Catholics agree with us and they would so testify if they were given the opportunity of free speech," the resolution said. Churchmen said the resolution was read in most Prague Catholic churches including St. Vitus, Archbishop Beran's cathedral.

Cathedral officials said the proclamation was read there at the 6 a. m. mass, although scheduled services later in the day were cancelled without explanation and churchgoers threatened away.

The declaration was made as tension mounted over the government's campaign to control the church. On Friday, Justice Minister Klapálek said Archbishop Beran a traitor. Officials disclosed a law was being drafted to require government approval of all appointments to church posts and to take over church property.

Civil War Breaks Out In Central Region Of China

CANTON, China, July 18.—(AP)—Fighting between Nationalists and Communists flamed into new activity in Central China today.

Official dispatches reported several Nationalist attacks. In Chinese press reports in British Hong Kong said the new Red drive had caused fresh panic among Nationalist officials in Canton.

The defense ministry, these accounts said, has chartered 21 civilian planes to ferry important equipment out of the provisional capital.

(Economic trouble beset Communist-held Shanghai. Rice prices shot up more than 50 per cent. The Communist dollar was further inflated, but the official rate of exchange lagged behind the price of rice on which wages are based. Shanghai employers said they couldn't meet the rice increase.)

The objective of Red troops on the march after a two-month stalemate—appeared to be Changsha, Hunan provincial capital and a Nationalist stronghold. The official dispatches told of these developments:

Four Red divisions (possibly 30,000 men) captured Ichang, Yangtze port 600 air miles west of Shanghai and 200 miles north of Changsha.

Attacks, yielding to strong attacks, abandoned Paochi, Shensi province, western terminus of the Lunghai railroad, but counterattacked west and south of the town.

Clean-Up Drive Opening Marked By Co-Operation

Corsicana's second city-wide clean-up campaign started today and early indications were that the citizens were co-operating satisfactorily. The plan calls for the drive to be completed by Wednesday night. The 10 trucks will move into the second of the three designated areas Tuesday morning.

Officials of the campaign stress the need for having trash and rubbish on the parkways the night before the trucks are to operate in each of the areas.

Cooperation was evident in the first section to be covered today as the 10 trucks hauled about 50 tons of debris to the city dump by noon. The 10 trucks collected 34 loads by noon and each load averaged about a ton and a half.

Twenty-eight persons from the city and from the two Texas National Guard units here are operating the trucks. Six of the trucks are being furnished by the 133rd Field Artillery and 143rd Infantry guard groups, and four by the city.

The clean-up campaign is being sponsored jointly by the city sanitary department and the Texas National Guard. This is the second drive the two groups have sponsored this year.

Guard personnel working today includes Roy R. Johnson, Robert Lee Barnes, Thomas M. Farmer, Charlie Grant, Billy J. Gafford and Dudley V. Bailey.

Personnel furnished by the city included R. T. Dozier, J. H. M. Walker, Perry McCullough, Vernon Spicer, Leon Wylie, W. E. Massey, L. N. Boyett, H. K. Taylor, Ira L. Williams, E. E. Petty, J. C. Conant, F. G. Pinkard, E. R. Parker, S. B. Anderson, N. W. Sarpy, Ernest Andrews, W. E. Davis, Neal Brown, T. C. Clay and James Burl.

It is hoped that the area west of the Southern Pacific railroad and north of the Cotton Belt railroad will be finished by nightfall. Anyone in this area who was missed today is asked to call 2108 for a truck.

Areas to be worked Tuesday and Wednesday follow: Tuesday—All of that territory west of Highway 75 and south of the Cotton Belt railroad. Trash and rubbish must be placed on the parkways tonight.

Wednesday—All of that territory east of Highway 75 and including the Zion East section. Trash and rubbish must be placed on the parkways Tuesday night.

Fogging operations with DDT will be continued during the drive and after it is completed.

NAMED—Carroll R. Daucherty, (above), professor of business economics at Northwestern University, has been named by President Truman to head a three-man fact-finding board to study the deadlocked steel dispute. (AP Wirephoto.)

Public Hearing On Steel Labor Dispute Slated

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—The fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute organized today and announced it will open public hearings July 28 in New York.

The organization meeting was held at the White House.

Chairman Carroll Daucherty said that the decision to delay hearings until July 28 would give both sides ample time to prepare their evidence.

The board will meet two days earlier in New York with representatives of the steel industry and of the CIO United Steelworkers to "arrange for procedural matters."

The chairman said this morning's discussion had to do with organization of the committee and other matters of business.

The other members of the board are Samuel I. Rosenman, New York City, and David Cole, Paterson, N. J. Both are lawyers.

Daucherty said the hearings will be open to the public except not fight in a war against Russia.

The committee's small hearing room was packed when Robinson and his attractive wife arrived, and a loud "Amen" came from somewhere in the crowd when he finished reading a long prepared statement.

The baseball star said he never has had time to become an expert on anything "except base stealing or some thing like that," but that he appeared out of sense of responsibility. He said there has been "a terrific lot of misunderstanding among negroes" and it's bound to hurt my peoples' cause unless it's cleared up.

Robinson said any negro "worth his salt" is going to resent "any kind of slur and discrimination" because of his race.

"This has got absolutely nothing to do with what Communists may or may not be trying to do," he declared. "And while people must realize that the more a negro hates Communism because it opposes democracy, the more he is going to hate any other influence that kills off democracy in this country."

"Negroes were stirred up long before there was a Communist party, and they'll stay stirred up long after the party has disappeared, unless Jim Crow has disappeared by then as well."

Robinson said he had no comment to make on Robinson's statement that negro Americans would not fight Russia, except that "it sounds very silly to me." And he added, if Robinson "wants to sound silly" in public statements "that's his business and not mine."

In case of war, Robinson said, negroes would "do their best to help their country win the war" the same as "Italians and Irish and Jews and Swedes and Slavs and other Americans."

"No one has ever questioned my race's loyalty except a few people who don't amount to very much," he said.

Armstrong called upon 20 departments and agencies to assign him key men for the task.

The Department of Commerce, aided by the Labor Department, already has undertaken basic surveys to determine where help is needed most.

When that is done efforts will be made to channel government purchasing to the neediest spots.

That was the idea behind the plan announced by President Truman Thursday when he designated Steelman to take over.

The President's order virtually makes Steelman boss over the spending of billions in this year's budget, including those spent matching state and local funds.

Some of his staff say that the total subject to his direction will involve from 10 to 15 billion dollars of government procurement and direct spending.

Particular emphasis will be on purchasing government supplies and services in cities where such funds might put idle men back to work.

Congressman Asks Action Against Truman's Aide

Probe Of Generals' Case Continued By Army Authorities.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—An investigation of Army contract handling was still underway today. It has led thus far to the suspension of two major generals and a congressman's demand that President Truman send his military aide to the sidelines.

The Inspector General's office has orders from Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray to continue its probe of Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general, and Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical corps.

Both were relieved of duty Saturday after a senate investigating committee produced evidence which Gray said indicated they exhibited "a lack of judgment and lack of a sense of propriety."

Rep. Shaver (R-Mich) demanded that the President suspend Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, White House aide.

A member of the House Armed Services committee, Shaver said in a statement that Vaughan was "implicated in the same case" with Feldman and Waitt. He gave no details but said the aide's conduct "has been, to put it mildly, in the poorest taste."

None of the generals has commented.

Their names were mentioned in a recent newspaper story telling of agents who allegedly used their influence to obtain government contracts for fees of five per cent.

The report, published in the New York Herald Tribune, prompted an inquiry by a senate expenditures subcommittee headed by Senator Clifford B. Case.

It was How who first disclosed the suspension order against Feldman and Waitt. He said the committee would hold public hearings in about two weeks, when both officers will have an opportunity to appear.

Gray said the senate group findings indicated that Feldman, who has been in charge of buying food for all Armed Services and furnished.

City Council Of Decatur Studies Claim To Fame

DECATUR, July 18.—(AP)—All over the world dice players have been crying "lighter than Decatur, the county seat of Wise."

Now the Decatur City council has taken it up.

The council will decide tonight whether it wants to put its official stamp of approval on the famous North Texas town has among craps-shooters looking for a point of eight.

"Mainly, we're going to decide about that sign," Mayor Syd Hardwick of Decatur said.

He was referring to a fading big signboard near the railroad station which proclaims:

"Eighteen from Decatur, the County Seat of Wise."

The sign and the sign and have their pictures made in craps-shooting poses. This sort of tomfoolery doesn't please some of the people of the town.

But others—flying station and restaurant—particularly say the fact that tourists stop to see the sign means more business.

"I'm going to make a motion to have from Decatur sign be erected," the councilman said.

Where all can see it—if the council approves.

Cliff D. Cates author of "The Pioneer History of Wise County," supplied the historical background on the Decatur sign.

Some years ago a negro girl in Decatur was named Ada.

"She was a favorite of negro cowboys at the Waggoner ranch," Cates said. "These boys started yelling, 'Ada from Decatur, County seat of Wise' when they were trying to roll an eight."

White gamblers misunderstood. They changed the phrase to "Eighteen" instead of "Ada."

Tough Battle Over Farm Measure To Start In Lower House Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—What may be the toughest farm battle of many years open in the house tomorrow. Its outcome may influence political fortunes in next year's congressional elections.

A coalition of Republicans and an undetermined number of Democrats is fighting the Truman administration's efforts to change the present farm program that grew out of the Roosevelt "new deal."

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn), leading the coalition, claimed victory of today Administration forces refused to concede.

The issue is not whether the farmer should have government help, but how it should be done.

The crux of the battle is the plan by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to get cheap food for consumers and an assured income for agriculture through direct federal subsidy payments.

Under the leadership of Chairman Cooey (D-NC) and Rep. Face (D-Ga), the house agriculture committee—by a party line vote—approved the Face bill permitting a three-crop trial run for the Brannan subsidy plan.

Gore quickly introduced a substitute bill, calling for continuation of the present program. He assailed the philosophy of the Brannan plan, and immediately got support from the nation's two biggest farm organizations, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange.

This is what the fighting is about:

Gore and the coalition want to continue the present program unchanged. This program supports prices of major farm crops at 90 percent of parity. This is done by government loans or purchases that keep price-depressing surpluses off the markets—thus enabling the farmer to get near parity prices in the markets or

President's Idea For Battle On Recession Target

Senator Sees Major Issue For National Campaign In 1950

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Republicans intend to bear down on President Truman's approval of operating the government in the red, Senator Brewster (R-Me) said today.

Brewster, who heads the Republican senatorial campaign committee, viewed it as possibly a major issue in 1950 elections.

The voters aren't going to be allowed to forget, he told a reporter, that Mr. Truman spoke out against cutting spending and in support of a program that temporarily would leave the government to play out more than it takes in.

Mr. Truman said in his economic report last week that "we cannot expect a budget surplus in declining national economy." He also said a big cut in government programs would hold back recovery.

"The administration 'has nothing but the old pump priming answer to any recession in business," was Brewster's assurance. The country tried that in the 30s and after $40,000,000,000 had been spent there still were 8,000,000 unemployed.

"The Republicans are going to fight to cut expenses and keep help, but how it should be done."

Miss Martha Sullenberger Is Summer Student At Saltillo, Taking Variety Of Courses

Miss Martha Sullenberger, Corsicana's own roving ambassador without portfolio, is studying this summer at the International Academy of Spanish in Saltillo, Coahuila, Mexico.

Here she is following a schedule which includes lectures on folk-lore, laws and customs of Mexico, songs, sociology, history, Spanish vocabulary and pronunciation.

There is also folk dancing, and the school day concludes with two hours conversation in Spanish with a personal tutor for each student.

According to Miss Sullenberger, the academy is not the only Saltillo school now in progress. "Students have flocked across the border in such droves this summer that the customs officers just ask if about seven weeks is the time such niece or occasionally a young nephew of Uncle Sam plans to remain as an international visitor."

Miss Sullenberger has written, "I am a student of the Corsicana Daily Sun society editors, tells that on the preceding night a July 4th dance was given for the students of several educational groups."

At the academy the students of college age compose two-thirds of the group, while the remaining third includes mainly instructors in languages from the USA.

Hotel Coahuila, where she is staying, is practically a dormitory, according to Miss Sullenberger. Twenty-nine of forty-five schoolmates board there, and sixteen others in nearby private homes.

"Saltillo is somewhat larger than Corsicana," writes Miss Sullenberger. "It is a scholarly town with attractions for students and everything is done to entertain hospitably."

"There are picnics, serenades, fiestas, good movies, concerts and a special social observance of strolling in the park, surrounded by chaperones as the young people circle around."

The climate is pleasant, so the two-hour conversational period daily is held in the plaza except when weather forbids.

"As I wake each morning I rest my eyes on my favorite mountain," her letter continues, "where I first thought words advertising a product or a politician were chiseled in stone; however as no letter is legible, I have concluded the inscription was scratched by the fingernail of Mother Nature at the dictation of Providence; so to me these natural runes in rock proclaim this message of the spirit: 'Peace on earth, good will to men!'"

A representative of the Waco field office of the Social Security Administration will be in Corsicana on Tuesday, July 19th, at 10:30 a. m. at the Texas Employment Commission.

Persons desiring information regarding old-age and survivors insurance and are invited to write the Social Security Field Office, 208 North 6th Street, Waco, and ask for pamphlet No. 35.

Supreme Court Rules In Favor Baptist Church

Finals were written on the litigation involving the First Baptist church of Corsicana and others Thursday by the Supreme Court of Texas when that tribunal overruled a motion for rehearing of applications for writs of error by the Super-Cold Southwest company.

The church won the lawsuit. The litigation began in the Thirtieth Judicial District court here when Judge A. P. Mays found for the church relative to $8,600 in escrow on an agreement for an air-conditioning program at the church. The congregation was dissatisfied with the performance of the unit or units and the suit was brought by the State National Bank of Corsicana, holder of the money in escrow, to determine to whom the amount should be paid.

Judge Mays ruled in favor of the church and then his judgment was upheld in the Waco Court of Civil Appeals. The air-conditioning firm then carried the case to the Supreme Court when the holdings of the trial and appellate courts were sustained and the refusal for a rehearing ends the matter, attorneys and Judge Mays stated.

The church will receive the money in question as soon as the mandate from the highest tribunal is received at the office of J. C. Gaston, district clerk.

Polio Must Have Early Treatment

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

There is more danger from polio during the months of July, August, and September than any others.

Parents need to be on guard for symptoms of the disease so that they can get their child under treatment immediately. For it is early treatment that helps bring children through the illness without lasting paralysis.

When children have the "sniffles," a fever, or complaint of pains in arms or legs a visit to the doctor is a wise precaution. More than fifty per cent of the children who contract polio recover completely with proper treatment.

THE RIGHT START

Realizing that present international tensions are likely to continue through much of the lifetime of children now in the public schools, the National Education Association, through the agency of its policies commission, has formulated a plan for teaching students how to handle the problems involved.

The commission's report states that if teachers do their part in training youth the cold war will not develop into a shooting war. The positive contributions that have been made by a democratic society must be emphasized, but the students also must be taught about the principles and practices of totalitarianism, and must be led to understand how dictators come to power and how the Communist Party functions in the United States and elsewhere.

The commission recognizes that the schools form the logical means for inculcating intelligent patriotism and an understanding of the advantages of the American way of life. Only through comparison with other systems can Americans clearly see the advantages of the one under which they live. Patriotism which is worth something is produced in this manner.

NO MILITARY DICTATOR

The government reorganization act has been passed by Congress and signed by the President, but efforts to exempt favored departments from its provisions are by no means ended. Representatives Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Service Committee, has now proposed that, by additional legislation, the armed services be made proof against the reorganization powers of the President. The reason advanced by Vinson is that he wants to insure the nation against military dictatorship.

The motives of the chairman may be altogether sincere. But that does not alter the fact that what he proposes is a weakening of the reorganization act. If a successful attack can be made against the act of one department, other attempts to protect departments, bureaus, offices and agencies will certainly follow. If the President is to attack inefficiency and waste in government, he must have power to attack them wherever they exist.

The prevention of military dictatorship — or any other dictatorship — is not to be found in law. The most precious heritage of the Bill of Rights and the rest of the Constitution are ours only as long as we appreciate them and are willing to protect them with our thoughts and speech and actions in private life, with our interest in public affairs, willingness to serve the nation, and intelligent use of the ballot. Those things are our assurance against dictatorship.

HALL OF FAME CANDIDATES

Dr. William C. Gorgas should be in the Hall of fame, says a group of his admirers, headed by Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. They think that Gorgas has been strangely overlooked. As surgeon general of the Army Gorgas was instrumental in clearing the Canal Zone of fever, and making possible the digging of the Panama Canal.

The Hall finally admitted Dr. Walter Reed, who isolated the germ of yellow fever, and might well choose Gorgas also. But the electors,

SOLID COMFORT ?

for the guerillas when hard pressed.

An interesting point in the announcement by Tito is that he said the border would be closed gradually. This could be interpreted as an admission that there are Yugoslavs in Greece, who would be given time to get back to their native soil before the gates are locked.

It remains to be seen what Tito means by a gradual closing of the frontier. His words, like those of some other leaders in Communist nations, cannot always be accepted at the Western notion of face value. If Yugoslavia should effectively close the border, then in the ensuing months it should be possible to learn the truth about whether the Communists in Greece have been getting outside aid through Yugoslavia. The Greek government also would have a chance to make good on its claim that without the outside help the guerrilla movement would be unable to stand against government forces.

If Tito means what he has said, the Greek situation might be clarified before winter settles over the Pindus Mountains.

GENIUSES OF THE PRESS

The most famous newspaper in India, the Lahore Civil and Military Gazette, has just had a run-in with the government of Pakistan, and been suspended for three months. What opportunities for writing this would have given the one-time staff member to whom it owes its fame!

Rudyard Kipling at 16 became one half of the editorial staff of the Gazette. In his autobiography he says of his job there:

"I never worked less than 10 hours and seldom more than 15 per day. I had fever too, regular and persistent, to which I added for a while chronic dysentery. Yet I discovered that a man can work with a temperature of 104, even though next day he has to ask the office who wrote the article."

To the Gazette he contributed occasional poems, which later became famous as his "Departmental Ditties." This was side-line stuff; of his main work he testifies that the "little I ever acquired of accuracy, the habit of trying at least to verify references, and some knack of sticking to desk work" he owed to his exacting chief.

Geniuses do appear on newspapers. One of the greatest American users of the English language, Lafcadio Hearn, wrote immortal items for Cincinnati and New Orleans papers.

MIND OVER BUSINESS

There is much to be said for the President's position on the relation of mental attitudes to the business cycle. When the cycle is moving downward, as it inevitably does at times, the idea that a depression is approaching could help to bring one on. Fear of a depression may lead to drastic, even panicky steps by both individuals and business concerns to trim sail, to cut down expenses and risky investments for self protection against loss in the decline. Such curtailments feed the recession, speed the downward movement of the business curve and push it toward a lower level.

On the other hand a downward trend in business cannot be lightly dismissed as only a figment of the mind. There are real economic causes which turn business from an upward curve to a downward one. The cause of the present downward turn seem to be these: Satisfaction of a large part of the pent-up demand hanging over from the war period, a general belief that prices and profits are too high, disgust with survival of the sales attitude of the war-time seller's market in some lines and outlets of trade, and a general return of the normal inclination of a buyer to shop around before making a purchase.

Both business and individuals would do well to recognize the slackening of trade for what it is, and adjust themselves—not just to the fact of a downward trend, accepting it and hedging against loss, but to the fundamental causes of the trend, seeking to meet and overcome them with corrective action.

SOCIAL SECURITY COST

It is generally recognized that there is little prospect for any expansion or liberation of the Social Security program in the present session of Congress. It is getting too late in the session for successful introduction of new controversial proposals. But it would be very helpful if the proposals being formulated in the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and doubtless in other groups, would be brought out for examination before the session ends.

Any extension of the program increase in the scale of benefits will result in increased cost, and hence higher payroll taxes.

People now participating in the program ought to have a chance to see how much bigger benefits would cost them in bigger taxes. People who may be brought into the program ought to have a chance to see how much its protection would cost them, not on the basis of present tax rates but under proposed rates.

Both bigger payments and coverage of more people are desirable. Direct payroll taxes of possibly six per cent—three per cent against the worker and three per cent against the employer—are being considered, and the people have some voice in the final decision. The interval between adjournment of the present session of Congress and the opening of the next regular session in January would provide time for the voice of the people to be heard.

"My desire is that mine adversary had written a book," wrote Job. Stalin has now published his tenth book, but the cause of his adversaries does not seem to have benefited much.

The House of Representatives, moved to an air-conditioned committee room because of Capitol repairs, found it chilly. The first good debate ought to fix that.

Extension Of Bus Strike Prevented For New Yorkers

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—The extension of the city's five-day-old bus strike to the big Third Avenue Transit system has been averted, but a walkout on 30 lines with 1,125,000 daily riders continued today.

A strike against the Third Avenue System, which had been threatened for tomorrow, would have affected 1,800,000 more daily passengers.

Mayor William O'Dwyer announced last night the walkout was averted when the company's three trustees in bankruptcy and President Michael J. Quill of the City Transit Workers union agreed to attend a contract negotiation conference July 25.

The New York City Omnibus Corporation and the Fifth Avenue Coach company, jointly owned, have been shut down by a strike since last Thursday. The strike was touched off by the dropping of four union mechanics, which followed other union complaints.

The mayor accused the two stock companies and the union of "outrageous contempt for the rights of the traveling public" in permitting the strike.

After the walkout started, Quill added new contract demands to the dispute. They included a demand for a wage increase of 21 cents an hour. Present wages average $1.50 an hour.

Italian Red Raps Vatican's Use Of Excommunication

ROME, July 18.—(AP)—Attacking the Vatican's excommunication decree, Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's leading Communist, yesterday told 2,600 of his followers they could be Communists and good Catholics at the same time.

He labeled the decree a tactic of "dragged from the darkest ages of humanity's history."

"We do not enter into the consciences of the militant Communists where there can reign faith and the convictions which satisfy them," he said.

The Vatican issued the edict Wednesday, declaring that all Roman Catholics who support Communism would be excommunicated and deprived of the church's sacraments and association with the faithful.

Excommunication would never destroy Communism, Togliatti told the Communist gathering.

His suggestion that Communists could be good Catholics followed Communist policy in Italy where strife with the Vatican has been avoided. The Communists voted to accept the Lateran accord which gave the church certain privileges in Italy.

County School Officials Meet At Courthouse

Trustees, school administrators and patrons of eight Navarro county school districts met at the courthouse Monday morning and sought methods of reaching the standards set up by the state auditor under the new Glimmer-Alkin legislation, J. C. Watson, county school superintendent, revealed following the meeting.

Districts to seek a raise in their local taxes will get petitions back by Saturday, July 23, and plan to hold the elections in their districts August 1.

The county judge will call the elections in the common school districts while the independent districts call their own elections.

The tax rate in a number of Navarro county schools is insufficient to meet the qualifications set up by the state auditor to qualify for the Glimmer-Alkin legislation. The county-wide average is only 82 per cent of the required local income the county superintendent sought, and in some instances a considerable increase will be required over present rates.

Schools represented included Frost and Blooming Grove, both independent districts, and a coalition of Mildred, Union High, Richland, Purdon, and Powell, common districts.

Supt. Watson said a number of other districts do not qualify but did not attend the meeting here Monday morning. He does not know what those districts plan to do.

FARM PLAN

Parity is a price intended to give farmers a purchasing power in fair relationship to the prices of things they must buy from the cities.

The administration (Brannan) is proposing that the loan and purchase program of supporting the prices of the greater portion of agricultural production, the perils, be abandoned. Instead, it wants the farmers to sell their products for whatever the market will pay, and the government would give each farmer a check representing the difference between the average price a crop sold for and a price the government considered as fair.

Thus, the consumer would get cheaper food and the farmer a fair income, with all the federal taxpayers making up the difference.

The house agriculture committee wrote in its bill only a three-crop trial of the Brannan idea. The secretary has indicated he would like to try it out on hogs, potatoes and wool. The administration has thrown its support behind the trial run bill.

But those who oppose the subsidy philosophy quickly pointed out that the present loan and purchase program actually made money for the government. War demands enabled the government to unload the grain stores, and the committee on which it had made loans in the 1930s and early 1940s.

Republican leaders sent notices to the 171 GOP house members saying "every Republican member who signs a bill and breathes, or shows any signs of life and is free from doctors' order" must be on hand this week to defeat the Brannan trial run bill.

Coley, leading the fight for the administration bill, said:

"This action by the Republicans in making the agricultural program an out-and-out partisan political issue will strengthen the Democratic support for the Peace (administration) bill and assure its passage."

It Happened 25 Years Ago Today

(From the Files of the Corsicana Daily Sun)

James E. Ferguson spoke to a Corsicana crowd at the courthouse here in the interest of the candidacy of his wife, Miriam, for the governorship of Texas.

Ferguson declared that war on the Ku Klux Klan would be waged from "hell to raw river" in the event of her election, and that they would "bring home the bacon and bananas, too" in the way of governmental economy.

Ferguson stressed economy in the various state services, including a cut in the Texas Ranger department that would do away with much of that "big hat, pistol toting brigade."

Dangers Of Atomic Warfare Described For Local Group

By PAUL MOORE
Daily Sun Staff

"Man now has the ability to commit suicide at will—we can destroy life on the earth—if we ever have another war that's what will happen..."

"We could kill 50,000,000 Russians before morning—planes equipped with the atomic bomb ring that nation—unless the bombs are too big."

These and other startling disclosures punctuated a thought-provoking address before a group of 100 farmers and bankers at the Lewis David-State National Bank party at the David farm in the Pickett community Thursday night by Dr. Bob Montgomery, University of Texas economics department professor and an atomic authority for the U. S. government.

The chicken barbecue followed a tour of inspection over the David, R. L. Harris and other improved farms in that community. Cotton, corn, improved pastures, and other crops were seen by the visitors.

After David opened the meeting, N. Suttle Roberts, president of the host bank, welcomed the visitors and asserted that the banks of Navarro county were interested in soil conservation and improving farms as the Number One goal and predicted that farmers could secure co-operation toward that goal from their banks.

Dr. Montgomery was presented by David. He's a native Texan, but this was his first visit to Navarro county and Corsicana.

"Why is the World In Such Turmoil Today?" is the question that has been raised by every intelligent person for the past 5,000 years, the educator stated soon after beginning his 20-minute talk, and turned to the "atomic bomb" question.

His serious, thought-provoking and awesome discourse was interspersed with witticisms, jokes, comparisons and the portraying of people, their actions, reactions, etc. in such a manner as to drive home the inconsistencies and often wrong slant on people and things.

Dr. Montgomery spent some time in describing the isolation of his home town settlement in Menard county, Texas, of the rivalry with adjoining Mason county, settled with people of different religion, politics, modes of life, etc. from his country—the killings at dance halls along the border, etc.

Blasting what is accepted in many quarters as the reason for changes—that is, ideas, isms, etc., the scientist said that roads, telephones, automobiles and now planes have broken down the barriers.

He spoke of plane trips that carry a person to China quicker than he could get the post office and back as a child. Dr. Montgomery said that after a road and telephones and automobiles became available, the youngsters of Mason and Menard counties began associating with the others—marrying—despite the orders and desires of the elders who wanted things to remain as before.

Then the speaker declared that every scientist in the Western World is trying to get people to understand the power for good to man instead of the destruction by the atomic energy.

"We must learn to live with our new neighbors or kill them."

"We've always tried to kill them and keep our race pure," Dr. Montgomery declared, and then launched into a discussion showing how a "revolution" occurs every time there is a change in our way of life—displacing the recognized leaders—going back to the flint and bronze ages in antiquity—of how a change brought forth new leaders and changed the way of life.

The racial problem was mentioned and he disclaimed Mrs. Roosevelt with her ideas and others as the reason—and then gave incidents in his own life—of walking out of a class in Kansas U. in 1912 when a negro sat by him—but he didn't walk out recently when one sat down by him in a plane at $5,000 feet or none of us step out of elevators because of a negro getting in the elevator—he gave other incidents and happenings to the group.

Referring to the atomic report to the nation in 1945 that by 1955 everyone will have the atomic bomb secret, he again stressed the necessity of living with our neighbors.

Dr. Montgomery displayed an opal signet ring and said the atomic bomb that destroyed an area three miles in diameter in one of the Japanese cities was smaller than the ring—about the size of an aspirin tablet—that melted into non-existence without smoke or ashes people, concrete buildings, steel and concrete streets, etc.—with the center of the crater being 38 feet deep—a circle that is still seen today at Hiroshima, Japan.

Referring to the supply, he said it was "hundreds of tons," and said he was going to stick around and see what happens "but as a scientist I think the world will 'blow' itself into destruction," he said, rather than live together, harness the energy for good and create a "millennium."

Describing the atomic bomb, the scientist said it generated 185 million degrees of heat, and that a person 16 miles away in a plane looked through glasses at the blast and is blind today. He told of the insanity, etc. at the proving grounds being destroyed without a trace.

He predicted Russia will have the atomic bomb soon, and said the man most responsible for its development here had been in Russia since the war—and that
